SECRETARY OF PETERSBURG'S CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MR. EDWIN L. QUARLES.

The recently-elected secretary of the Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, was elected by the business department of the Times-Dispatch.

There is a splendid movement organized in Petersburg to bring to the world's attention the advantages of that progressive city. Few, if any, places in Virginia can offer more attractive business or social conditions than Petersburg. It is situated on tidewater, has ample railroads, good schools, and a class of exceptionally able business men, who are not content with trade and industry. They are determined to give the city wide publicity, beyond question, by the means of bringing many new industries and rapidly increasing the population.

Civil Service Examination.—The United States Civil Service Commission announces through its local secretary, Harry P. March 20—Blacksmith's helper (Quartermaster's Department—St. Large).

March 21—Draftsman and surveyor.

March 23—Railway mail clerk.

GOVERNORS NOT TO NAME DELEGATES

Other Southern Executives Hold to Governor Swanson's Views.

Nearly all the Southern Governors seem to hold to Governor Swanson's views with reference to the appointment of delegates to the proposed race conference.

In response to inquiries made by the Times-Dispatch, the following telegraphic messages were received Friday night:

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 22, 1907.—Times-Dispatch, Richmond, Va.: I will decline to appoint commissioners to the Southern race conference. The subject should be very carefully considered before any public discussion of it is indulged in.

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 22, 1907.—Times-Dispatch, Richmond, Va.: The Governor will not appoint commissioners to the race conference.

Baton Rouge, La., Feb. 22, 1907.—Times-Dispatch, Richmond, Va.: Governor Blanchard out of State. Speaks to-night at Pecan, Ills.

COTTON AS A GAUGE, DEMAND INCREASES

The Springfield, Mass., Republican of recent date discusses the cotton situation as follows:

Nothing better reflects the great popularity of cotton commodities than current cotton statistics. The movement of last year's crop into sight continues very heavy, as do exports, the amount coming into sight last week being nearly double that of the same week last year, and bringing the total up to over 10,000,000 bales, contrasted with 8,084,735 bales to the same date a year ago. As at the same date of the 13,000,000-bale season of 1904-1905, only about 8,000,000 bales had come into sight, there would seem to be good promise of even larger figures for the present season than have as yet been calculated. The world's visible supply of cotton, according to the Financial Chronicle, now amounts to 5,555,121 bales, which is the largest ever known for this time of year. Nevertheless, the price of cotton holds firm at the high level of eleven cents and over. Only a market for cotton goods of unexampled strength can explain such a price, as against such a supply of cotton.

URBANNA NEWS.

A thief entered the stables of the Urbanna Livery Company one night recently and stole a set of harness belonging to Mr. W. Marvin Minter, leaving behind the collar and bridle.
